Israel's Generation Z Has Solutions for the Developing World

Israel Sustainable Development Goals (ISDG) Program

KKL-JNF is a partner in the ISDG Program, an Israeli, nationwide high school competition to create projects that address one or more of the UN 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) for developing countries. Project proposals, submitted by hundreds of Israeli 7th through 12th graders, will be chosen according to their innovation, feasibility, and optimal use of time and funding resources. The three winning teams will be flown to Rome, Italy to present their projects before a forum of a UN agency.

ISDG promotes innovation and entrepreneurship among Israeli youth by positioning them at the forefront of the challenge to address the developing world's most pressing environmental, social, and economic needs and meet the UN goals for a sustainable future by the year 2030.

ISDG, a joint effort between KKL-JNF and the Israel Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Education, provides an empowering experience for young people, preparing the scientists, conservationists, researchers, legislators, and policy makers of the future.

Today's youth will define the environmental policies of the next decade.

Requested donation: NIS 40,000 to cover the winning teams' airfare to Italy, where they will present their projects before the relevant UN agency in Rome.

Donors will receive appropriate recognition for their generosity.
